

Along with the over 90% of Americans supporting this action, I want to voice my complete support of the president's decision to eliminate by force the murderous criminals you now face. You are in our prayers daily, and be assured Americans at home are doing everything possible to support you. Give them hell!!!! God bless you, God bless America, and God bless our allies fighting alongside you. See you back home. An American forever, Calvin

Although you are deployed from the USA to protect the citizens, I am so very proud of you, and want you to know how very much you are loved. You are the light of my life and the protector of all. As a "Retired Reserve" member, I am and my family are proud of our military in developing the plans, alliances, and intelligence in smartly moving ahead with bringing terrorism to an end. It is not an easy, or short job, but you all look ready to go the long haul.

As an ex-Navy person too old to join you, I wish you well & hope you all have a safe return home. Keep up the good work. I support what we are doing even though some people don't. It's ok, they can have their own opinion, that is why we live in a country where we have that freedom. Good luck to all!

At one time, in Korea, I was one of the troops. Now you are one. We are gratefully and thankful for your service. Stay healthy and safe and God be with you & your family. Biloxi, MS

At times like this, thank you seems so inadequate. Your sacrifices and your courage are appreciated, and you are in our prayers.

Dear Brave Friends,
My father was a USA WW II veteran and I am very proud to mention that. Like he was and still is, even tho he passed away years ago, my HERO, so YOU are mine and Our heroes as well. God Bless America, Capt.Frankovic

Dear Fellow Service Men and Women, As far as I know, this is the first time in the history of my family that there is nobody actively serving in the armed forces. I have served in the US Army myself, as have my father, several cousins, uncles, my grandfather, and many other generations all the way back to at least the civil war. I have the very rifle my great great great great uncle carried in that war. So I am a little chagrined that we are not there this time to help you. But I know that deep in your hearts, all of you are proud to be Americans, and will do what is right when the time comes to help. Be proud of yourselves for doing the right thing. Kenneth - Loveland, Colorado

Dear Soldiers,
Just a short message to let you know that we support you 100% in the War Against Terrorism. Our prayers are with you and your loved ones at home. Let us not forget what happened to the United States on September 11, 2001. God Bless America! The Reeves Family-TX

Fighter's for America,
Come on men let's roll! Following the attack on Pearl Harbor, the Supreme Naval Commander of the Japanese Navy was asked: "What do you think was accomplished"? He answered:

"I feel that all we have really accomplished is to AWAKEN A SLEEPING GIANT!" WELL THE GIANT IS AWAKE AGAIN!

From a former shipmate:

First, wish I was there with you guys, doing what we do best. Use all the force you need too. Make it so people won't try this again. My thoughts are with all of you !! Make me proud to say I was on that ship, and served with some of you. Keep her in good condition!! SRM. Airman -Hangerboy

Through this time of need and warfare. guide our nation to safety. Amen

God bless America.

This message is to all the brave Americans fighting for our freedom. I'm an American. I was born in the Caribbean - the Dominican Republic - and now I have a US blue passport that testifies my American nationality. I am very angry for the slaughter I have witnessed almost a month ago. But I am proud of the American government, of the American people ready for combat in these times of uncertainty. Be brave as we pray for you. Be strong because you are our present and our future. God bless America! Alfonsina-New York City your courage. Thank you!!!!!! Karla

To say "thank you" for the incredible task you are undertaking seems completely inadequate, but I cannot think of any other words. THANK YOU!

To the crews of the B-52's: My dad was a member of the original SAC, retiring in 1961 as a Major and EWO. Growing up he would speak of the pride and responsibility in being a crew member on a B-52. I only wish he was alive today to see not only B-52's being deployed, but also knowing that the pride still lives on in her crews. Good luck, good hunting, and god bless you and the USA! We are deeply grateful to all you Americans, who dedicate your lifes to freedom and peace. You saved our country in WWII, and without you, I would not be sitting here. I am ashamed that we leave it again up to you to do the dirty jobs. Who would save the world if we had not this great Nation ? I am speaking in behalf of a lot of Germans. Eugene.

We are proud of you and do not be disheartened by the few who protest this action. Listen rather to the millions of us who appreciate how you serve and protect our country and the people. The September 11th attack was unwarranted and the innocent people killed did not deserve this.We are taking the right course of action and well justified it is. We hope that we do not lose a single one of you in this mission as you are the best of all of us. Thanks and may God shield you from harm.

We can't thank you enough for keeping us safe. Your courage and commitment are an inspiration to us and all generations of Americans. God bless you. Ross

We wish you well and think of and pray for you daily. Thank you for what you are doing. There are many people who may be unable to send an e-mail. Rest assured that they think of you and appreciate you too. Cecelia-Gadsden, AL

You are a number, just like we were in world war 2. Our folks back home prayed we would win, so the war would be over and that is what we are doing now. You Men and Wemon you are the best in Gods sight, because we know the one and true God, He is alive He's not stone, he won't put any more on us than that we can stand, but will make a way of escape. So take courage and be proud you are on the winning side. From me and my wife, to you as you read this. The Dew

You have a just cause to be where you are. You have an honorable mission ahead of you. When you are your tiredest, your hottest, your coldest, your most frightened, think of the people you are defending - throughout the world. The civilized world is a huge stadium...they are cheering for you...you are carrying the ball for a touchdown...shooting the final free-throw...the last at bat with the bases loaded...you are the most important person on the face of this earth, and we are by your side. You will never again know honor like this again in your life. Be strong...be patient...be well.

Young people of the greatest country on Earth: You have my sincere gratitude and nightly prayers that you may go into battle and return not only victorious in your quest, but also safe to your families and friends. I know that your mission(s) will be dangerous but that faith will help us destroy the enemy. God bless you as you travel or enter the unknown terrain. —A proud American
